Climate Action

Invitation to join the Nation Tree Day event for the year 2022

Inviting administrators, professors, staff, students, alumni, and those interested to participate in the National Tree Day event for the year 2022, which falls on the 21st of October each year, coinciding with the birthday of His Majesty King Bhumibol Adulyadej, who serves as a role model for tree nurturing and conservation.

- By submitting photos during tree nurturing activities, such as soil cultivation, fertilizing, watering, tree pruning, or tree planting.
 - Along with writing captions expressing thoughts about National Tree Day activities.
 - Participating students will earn university activity hours, amounting to 1 hour (activity hours will be recorded in the system one week after the event).
 - University staff members can also count this as cultural activity hours and will receive an honorary certificate after participating in the event, which will be sent to the email address you provided in this online activity system.
